A FISHHAWK'S MISTAKE.
His Keen Eye Deceived the Ocean
Fisher in This Case.

Fishhawks get their entire food supply from the water. Their eyes are so constructed that even at great heights they can see fish that swim near the surface and then dive with lightning speed. The fish is caught in the claws and is taken to the nest of the bird before being eaten. The writer has seen a hawk make a mistake and catch a hard crab, and when the crab got both his big claws fairly at work on the tender part of the bird's legs there was somewhat of shaking and diving in the air to get rid of the crab, but it is not often they get fooled. It is generally all in their favor. A hawk will fly away with a big eel wriggling in its claws that a man could not hold thirty seconds with both hands. The hawk sometimes, however, will dive at things they do not want, and a thing occurred a few years ago which is worth telling.

A steamer was passing Seabright.
It was a big coaster from Savannah to New York, and a lady on board lost overboard a handsome and valuable lace shawl, which floated away after striking the water. The passengers, being interested, watched the shawl as far as they could see it, and finally saw fishhawk dive at it, get it fast to his claws and fly away with it. The lady was very much put out at losing the article and advertised a reward for the same. A lineman took a notion he could get the shawl after hearing the circumstances, and with his spurs he started to pay a visit to every fishhawk's nest in the country
immediately back of Seabright.
The shawl was found hanging on the ridge of a nest on the Lewis White farm near Little Silver. What the hawk wanted with the shawl is hard to tell, for they use no such thing in building their nests.—Philadelphia

SULPHUR SPRINGS.

We are needing rain in this community very badly.

Blackberrying has been the go here for sometime. I think everyone has his share of berries.

A party of young people went on an excursion up Rough River Sunday
they report a pleasant time.

It is hardly probable that the action of the committee in threatening imprisonment to the correspondents will have any effect, unless it be to cause them to guard more closely the secrets they possess.

It is to be hoped that the honor and dignity of journalism will be preserved by these men who have defied the committee in their attempts to break down one of the safeguards of the people.

The Chicago Ledger has struck the nail on the head by starting in its issue of August 1st a fascinating love story entitled "Caught in the Striker".
 It deals with the late A. R. U. strike to win the world's greatest prize, and the young men and places familiar to many of our readers. Sample copy, giving first installment of the story,
 will be mailed free of application to

We think we can hear the wedding bells soon.

Messrs. Robert Lee and A. L. Midkiff are talking of striking again.

Mammoth Cave.

Bayard Taylor says of the Cave,
after visiting all the natural wonders of the Old and New Worlds: "I have been twelve hours under ground, but I have gained an age in a strange and hitherto unknown world; and age of wonderful experience and an exhaust-less store of sublimine and lovely memories. Before taking a final leave of the Mammoth Cave, however, let me that no description can do justice to its sublimity or present a fair picture of its manifold wonders. It is the greatest natural curiosity I have ever visited, Niagara not excepted, and he whose expectations are not satisfied by its marvelous avenues, domes and starry grottoes must either be a fool or a demigod." If this is the experience of one of the world's greatest travelers those who have never beheld the wonders of the Cave, or felt the weird and thrilling emotions experienced by a trip through its beautiful avenues should embrace the opportunity offered by the Mammoth Cave Excursion

Newspaper Bidder
[THE FOURTH ESTATE.]

The action of the Senate Investigation Committee in attempting to coerce newspaper correspondents into disclosing the sources of information on which were based certain articles which appeared in their newspapers, brings up an important point in the ethics of journalism.

The ground taken by the correspondent is his refusel to furnish the desired information is, that they are in duty bound to protect the persons who gave them the information, and that, we believe, they will be held by all who believe in inviolability of confidence. A newspaper must not betray a confidence any more than should a doctor or a lawyer divulge knowledge obtained in a professional capacity. While the position of a newspaper man is not exactly analogous to that of a doctor or a lawyer, inasmuch as much of the information
he gives is given to him for publication, the place referred to is what is known as Sabine canyon, and it is a rill in the southern side of the Santa Catalina mountains. The mouth of the canyon is about twenty-five miles northeast of Tucson, A. T., and the road to within a few miles of it is as smooth as asphalt pavement.

The State Election in Alabama resulted in a victory for the Democratic candidates.

Was Rowan Holbrook a Jonah to Murray or will Murray prove a Jonah to Rowan Holbrook?

What do you think of organizing Hayti into a municipality, a veritable town if you please, with a police court and a regular corps of officers?

LAST Republican Administration—the country enjoying unparalleled prosperity and the people contented and happy. Present Democratic Administration—the country in financial ruin and the people out of work and begging for bread. Remember this when you vote.

Mr. SMITH CARR last Monday at San Francisco, while practicing with a pistol, hit the bull's eye 99 out of 100 shots at a distance of fifty yards. Any well regulated newspaper will give Mr. Carr $500 a week to practice on spring poers when that vegetable is in season.

The Hon. John W. Lewis is cau- vassing the eastern and south-eastern parts of the District, and everywhere is arousing a healthy interest and enthusiasm. It is only necessary that every Republican do his duty, and John W. Lewis will be the next Congressman from the Old Fourth.

CONGRESSMAN STONE, of the First District, was defeated for renomination to Congress last Saturday by Hon. J. K. Hendrick. Mr. Montgomery in the Fourth was far more unfortunate in that he received his party nomination and beside the unwelcome job of meeting John W. Lewis in the campaign will be defeated in November.

A PRISONER who had been convicted of murder was granted a new trial recently because of the position of a comma in the lower court's instructions to the jury. It has long been considered the height of danger for a man's life to hang by a thread, but when it comes to hanging a human life on the tail of a comma (,) you're gettin' things down fine and no mistake.

THE Colored Teachers' Institute for the counties of Butler, Daviess and Ohio has been in session at the Colored Baptist Church this week. The enrollment shows 20 present and the meeting has been eminently successful. It is but just to say that this is the best Colored Institute ever held in the county and that the whites do not appreciate the advancement attained by the colored teachers.

NEXT Monday is the time at which the County School Superintendents-elect will qualify and take charge of the school work. Mr. Z. H. Shultz, Ohio county's new Superintendent, is already here preparing to enter upon the discharge of his duties. There is no man in Ohio county, either young or old, who is more worthy to fill the position than is Zeb Shultz. He well qualified for the place and possesses a lofty ideal of what a man and an official should be. We bespeak for him at the hands of the people that unflinching support which will enable him to make his work most effective. In all his efforts to build up the cause of education in the county, the new Superintendent will have THE REPUBLICAN'S well wishes and unqualified support.

A FEW months more will bring the fall rains, and later the mud consequent upon these and the freezes and thaws of winter will render our streets well nigh impassable unless some early steps are taken to build side walks. Let the Town Trustees order brick walks erected wherever in their judgment the necessity of the case demands. Plans walks are a very expensive luxury entirely too costly for a town like Hartford. Whatever new walks we have by all means let us have brick walks.

JUDGE GUFFY's speech at the Court House Monday was very timely and was well received. He made a good impression on our people, or more correctly speaking, renewed and heightened the very favorable opinion the citizens of this county, irrespective of party, have ever felt for him. His candidacy appeals strongly to the people because of his eminent qualifications, his years of ripe experience, his unwavering integrity and honor and again because he is of the people, is the people's friend and owes no allegiance, express or implied, direct or indirect, to any ring or clique.

THE attention of our readers is called to the paragraphs clipped from the very able letter of L. D. S. in a recent issue of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. L. D. S. is none other than the able and popular Hon. L. D. Sampson, of Barberville, a deserving candidate for the Republican nomination for Railroad Commissioner. The writer deals in a happy manner with Third and Fourth District politics, showing the splendid chance for Republican success. Lack of space forbids the publication of the whole article, which discusses the political outlook in every Congressional District in the State.

THE Democratic party stands pledged to the unqualified declaration that a Protective Tariff is unconstitutional. In view of this fact how can any conscientious Democrat support the Wilson-Gorman-Senate Bill denounced by many eminent Democrats as a Protective measure, little better for Free Trade than the McKinley Bill. They seem to act upon the theory that if a man steals a horse worth $100 he's a thief and ought to go to the penitentiary, but if he steals a horse worth only $99 he's a good fellow and has committed no wrong. It is the merest twaddle to offer as an excuse, "We can't get what we want, then let's take the next best thing." Protection is either right or wrong, constitutional or unconstitutional—there is no half way ground. The Democracy insults this country and stultifies itself when it passes a law it declares itself to be unconstitutional.

WHAT do you think of organizing Hayti into a municipality, a veritable town if you please, with a police court and a regular corps of officers?

HARDINSBURG.

Robin Hood Gives a Glowing Account of Things in Old Brockenridge.

HARDINSBURG, Ky., Aug. 5. Mr. Claude Mercer, who is employed at Washington, is at home with his family and friends.

Miss Sue Monarch, of Owensboro, is visiting Miss Mary Bowmer. Miss Monarch is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music at Cincinnati.

A serious cutting affray took place at the picnic at Elder's Spring, in this county, July the 25th. We have not been able to obtain the particulars. The parties were a man named Gilbert and George Blair. Gilbert did the cutting—stabbing Blair in eight places. Blair is a dangerous fellow and this is not the first trouble he has had. The Blairs, also, are often in some difficulty. At this writing Blair is in a critical condition, with the chances for recovery in his favor.

Mr. C. E. Haswell is again a father. Mr. Haswell, to be sure, is both poor and happy. That sort of thing however, is so common at his house, that he takes it in every matter of fact way. The little stranger is a girl and has been christened Isabelle McHenry, in honor of Miss McHenry, of Hartford.

Our little white baseball team has been receiving some severe drubbings at the hands of the Cloverport team. Last week the Leitchfield colored team came over with the expectations of giving our colored team the same treatment. They succeeded, however, in coming out second best. The score at the close of the game stood 23 to 34 in favor of the Hardinsburg boys. Our boys will go to Leitchfield shortly and will compete the series by defeating the Leitchfield team again.

A light form of typhoid fever seems to be epidemic in this country. There are several cases, among whom are Mr. Amon Kincheloe, Mr. Allen Kincheloe, Miss Eliza Jolly and Little Lucy May, who is now convalescent. No case thus far has resulted fatally. The medical fraternity seem to be improving in their treatment of this dread disease. A great deal depends on skillful nursing.

Miss Mary Board is visiting at Webster and Rineyville and Miss Hattie May at Webster.

A number of our citizens are subscribing for the Weekly Louisville Commercial at the rate of 40 cents per year. At this extremely low price it is put within the reach of all.

It will make good Republican campaign material and should be well circulated all over the State. Jesse R. Eskridge is agent for Breckenridge county.

THE Epworth League of this place, had a cake walk last week at the residence of Mr. Robert Smith. The most graceful walkers were to obtain the cake. They walked in pairs and the judges, after reviewing the procession, decided that Mr. H. Board, cashier of the Bank of Hardinsburg, and Miss Sue Monarch, of Owensboro, were entitled to the prizes. They were therefore awarded the cakes and the attending honors. Refreshments were sold by the members of the League. The yard was decorated with League colors and Chinese lanterns and presented an attractive appearance. We suppose all who attended spent a pleasant evening.

A curious freak of nature occurred out at the farm of Mr. George Hook, about three miles from town, last week. It was in the shape of a heavy hail storm. It came down in such quantities that it could be raked up with a shovel, and a tobacco crop on Mr. Hook's place was nearly destroyed by it. Speaking of tobacco reminds me that the tobacco crop in our part of Breckenridge county is rather inferior, both in quantity and quality. It is estimated that there is about 60 per cent of a full crop. The corn crop is about an average. The wheat crop was better than usual. Apples and peaches are practically a complete failure. There is a small yield of grapes.

THE Phoenix Lime Company, of Stephensport, Ky., has made an assignment and filed a petition in the Breckenridge Circuit Court, praying that the business be put in the hands of a receiver. This company, as its name implies, is engaged in making lime and quarrying building stone. It has gotten in a bad fix financially; contracting debts amounting to about $3,500, without sufficient assets to meet them. Mr. Peter C. Brashears, of Owensboro, formerly connected with the First National Bank of that city, is President and chief stock holder of the concern. The capital stock is $10,000, consisting of 100 shares valued at $100 per share.

Ben Macey was in trouble last week. He lives about two miles from town on the Brandenburg road. Several years ago he was tried for lunacy and was adjudged to be one. On a new trial, however, he was acquitted of the charge. He had an idea that the Lord had commanded him to kill his mother. He said the Divine powers commanded him to take her to the river, tie a rock about her neck and drown her. A few days in jail dispelled his hallucination. He got along peacefully until recently. Of late he has been causing uneasiness.

The ice cream entertainment given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Whittaker, Saturday evening, was quite a pleasant affair, and the large crowd seemed to enjoy themselves highly.

The primary election held at Heflin Saturday resulted in there being 26 votes cast, out of which Mr. Murray received 23.

Miss Marie Barnard, of Louisville, visited Miss Bessie Cox last week. Mr. MARIE BARNARD.

obstructions toward Beard and ordered him from the place. Beard went away and came to town the next day and procured a warrant for his arrest. The next day the officers brought him to town, he pleaded guilty and was fined $50. He failed to pay or replevy the fine and was sent to jail.

He is a good farmer and will probably pay the fine rather than stay in jail. A little heroic treatment will probably result in his better behavior.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1894.

Pace, the barber, is still at the old stand ready to furnish his patrons with a good shave, shingle or shampoo.

After August 20th I will be in my office at the Hartford House only on Saturday. 22 R. R. WEDDING.

Dr. Wesley Phillips, formerly a citizen of this county, died at his home in Burnt Prairie, Ill., last Sunday week, the 29th ult.

Hatty comes down with a little shooting and running scrape, which occurred last Saturday night. John Duvall and Wes Callahan were participants, the former handling the gun and the latter working his legs. No damages.

Miss Sallie Taylor and Master John Taylor gave the little folks a party last night in honor of their cousin, Master Helm Walker, Louisville. There was a large crowd of little people present and the evening was very pleasantly spent.

Base ball grew rampant in Hartford last Saturday and a game was arranged between the First and Second Nines. The contest was spirited and lively, and resulted after five innings in a score of 30 to 13 in favor of the First Nine. The rivalry was rather heightened than allayed by this game and other games will follow.

The alarm of fire was heard in the town about 11 o'clock Tuesday, and the bucket brigade was soon directed to the residence of Mr. J. P. Sanderfur on Union Street. The kitchen was found to be on fire and the flames were making rapid headway. By the most efficient work, however, the fire was extinguished and the property saved. Loss about $75 or $100.

Note. I have leased the coal bank on the Moseley & Johnson farm, 2 miles east of Hartford, known as the Nichols bank, and am prepared to fill all contracts at most reasonable prices. This coal is guaranteed to be as good as any in Ohio county. Patronage solicited. 1st PETER H. HAPPY.

A Grand Feature

Ol' Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it coursing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression often heard: "Hood's Sarsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired feeling so common now.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, always reliable and beneficial.

CENTRAL GROVE.

Aug. 7.—Dry weather and dusty roads.

Farmers are becoming very badly discouraged over the conditions of their crops.

Rev. H. P. Brown failed to fill his appointment here Sunday, but sent in his stead Rev. G. T. Tinsley, who gave us an interesting talk on the following subject: "If the righteous scarcely are saved, where shall the ungodly and sinner appear?"

A musical entertainment will be given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alney Tichenor, Wednesday night, August 8th. The evening is hoped to be quite an enjoyable one.

The fall school at this place will be taught by Miss Myrtle Rowe. We heartily welcome her to our community and wish her success.

CLEVELAND'S TARIFF BILL.

The Anglo-Saxon Document Favoured by the Head of the Democracy.

If the republican press of the United States were to be called to account for some of the strong partisan statements made concerning the Wilson bill, now under consideration, every democrat in the United States would raise his voice in strong denial of any and everything that a republican or protectionist might say. We, therefore, greatly oblige the independent press of the country, and to such men as the New York Sun, for a criticism which cannot for a moment be considered as being at all in sympathy with republican processes or measures.

The Detroit Evening News, which is classed among the most ultra free trade papers of the United States, in a recent editorial article offers the following criticism upon Mr. Cleveland's tariff bill:

"The tariff bill—for he seems to have fathered the measure, and, in all probability, dictated it—does much more for Great Britain than merely opens our markets to her goods. It repeats the blunder that was made by a democratic administration in 1854, when Canada was as ripe for annexation as Hawaii is now. The strongest politicians in the provinces at that time were declaiming that Canada must have a relaxation of the American tariff so as to admit their farm products to our market, or they must have annexation. A great British statesman, Lord Elgin, was sent over to save what was left of the empire on this continent, and succeeded in getting a reciprocity treaty which at one fell swoop removed the cause for political union. This was not a question of economies or of trade. It was a question of high international politics of statesmanship. It has reached the same point again. Our tariff policy, whatever economists may say of it, has brought the Canadian border to its knees again. The people there can neither consume their own products nor sell them across our border. They are levying the country where they are, and groaning under their isolation where they cannot emigrate to the United States. The demand for annexation is growing rapidly. Every independent Canadian feels, and confesses, it to be his duty to advise that the situation cannot last, and that political union is the logical outcome. The Wilson bill gives them all they ask, and gives it to them without reciprocal concessions. If it becomes a law, the Canadian farmer will have the market of seventy millions of American consumers opened to him, and he will no longer have any reason to complain of his condition. There will be an end of the political union movement. The loyal subjects of her majesty will no longer sigh for the flesh pots of American trade, for they will have them at their doors to their hearts' content. Not only the English press, but also at this, and every well-informed man who performs so mighty a service for the queen. Wolfe, himself, when he drove the French out of Canada did not more substantially earn the gratitude of the British race."

If the farmers of Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio and New York, to say nothing of those who live south and west of the Canadian border, can read this article with any degree of comfort, then indeed must it be said that the American farmer is strangely infatuated with ideas born of anything other than a political principle which stands the test of experience and practice. If the western farmers of the United States, and those along the Canadian border can vote to protect Canada the advantages acknowledged as gifts in the foregoing article, this complaint ought to cease that the farmer is not being legislated for, when they themselves become parties to the enactment of a statute which openly robs them of an equal opportunity in their own markets, while they are shut out from the markets across the border, by a high protective tariff in Canada.

A DEMOCRATIC FALLACY.

Inconsistent Free Trade Arguments Favoring Foreign Markets.

We are told by that great student of political economy, Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, that one object to be attained by the passage of the Wilson bill is to enable us to find a market for the products of farm and factory.

This astute gentleman of Texas with most brazen effrontery ignores the fact that our home market is the best in the world and worth more to us than all the markets of the world put together. Over ninety percent, of everything produced in the United States is consumed by our own people. But there is another feature to this nonsensical and twaddle about finding a foreign market for our products which is decidedly inconsistent, and it is this: Abrogate the McKinley tariff and you do away with reciprocity, which has resulted in the foreign demand for our surplus products. The Cuban and South American states the demand for our goods created by reciprocity during the past two years will cease entirely, and England or Germany will supplant us, and why? Simply because with free trade we cannot offer those countries any inducements to trade with us. Their products will come in duty free, while they will buy their goods in European markets, where with cheaper labor we will be undersold. A striking result of reciprocity is witnessed in our relations with Cuba.

In 1890 that country imported our surplus products to the value of $9,000,000. The demand of our products was greatly augmented by reciprocity, and in 1891 Cuba paid us $24,000,000 for goods and merchandise bought of us—an increase of $15,000,000 over the trade of 1890.

In the list of products bought in the latter year are such articles as flour and other farm products, machinery, tools, wire, engines, agricultural implements, steel bars, cut nails, bolts and shoes. All this trade under the Wilson bill will be destroyed.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

Free-Trade Democrats Working in the Interest of Trusts.

The American people are practically interested in everything relating to the cost and the consumption of sugar. It enters directly into the domestic economy of every family. The increase or decrease of one or two cents in a pound is felt immediately from one end to another of this broad land.

It has been our misfortune that we have been almost entirely dependent for this staple of life upon the importations from foreign countries. In time of war, quarantine or other unforeseen disasters, a diminution of the supply would cause scarcity, increase prices here and bring much suffering. Because of this fact our wise statesmen have long sought by all proper means to foster its production, more especially in Louisiana. Unfortunately, however, it has been found impossible to raise it there in competition with the coolie and slave labor of Cuba and other countries.

Within recent years experiments have shown that sugar could be made from sorghum cane, and a considerable industry has been developed in Kansas and other western states where farmers have produced large quantities of this article. More recently still the development of the beet root sugar industry has been fostered in nearly every state between the Mississippi and the Gulf. Various states have passed laws prohibiting this article, especially plants for the manufacture of sugar have been erected and farmers throughout this area have suddenly found themselves favored with a good and cash market for a large and very important crop.

The McKinley bill recognized all these conditions and at the same time gave full weight to the fact that sugar must be free. To be sure, sugar is used by the rich, but an increased price caused by duties would not be so generally felt by them as by the middle and poorer classes. The price of sugar to make it cheap and keep it cheap, and at the same time, foster cane, sorghum and beet root products, with a view to making us, partially at least, independent of foreign countries, and give our farmers an additional crop and product.

The success of this plan has been notorious. Louisiana, for the first time in fifty years, has become prosperous; all through Kansas and the northwest, and even California, large acreages have been planted in sorghum and beet root, more especially the latter, and we are on the high way to realizing the prophecy of the recent English to the effect that if United States continue their method of free imports and bounties they will, within ten years, produce in our own domain all, or nearly all, the sugar they require."

The cost of the bounty paid on sugar in the past year was less than ten millions of dollars. By its aid we have fostered the sugar industry within our borders, and given it an impetus which will steadily increase if the present legislation be retained.

By the Wilson-Voorhees bill, while it is difficult to say exactly how far they have yielded to the sugar trust, it is safe to say that duties amounting to fifty millions a year will be imposed upon this article of prime necessity.

This will not only increase the price to the amount of eighty cents per annum to every man, woman and child in the United States, but it will also wipe out all our domestic industries in this line and render us, in the future, entirely dependent on our imports.

We have a sugar trust already sufficiently powerful to dictate to the democratic committee in the senate and shape legislation on this bill to suit their purposes. If this bill passes they will not only be able to manipulate in New York, but also through their foreign connections to absolutely control the output from Cuba and Germany.

It is an admitted fact that this sugar trust of New York city importers, half of whom are foreigners and all of whom are free trade democrats, have already secured control of the entire sugar product of Cuba, Porto Rico and Brazil for the next two years and of one-half at least of the German export. They have already in bond in New York more than 300,000 tons, to be entered free under present law, then be refined and sold at an increase of price, because, for the future, democratic free trade and sugar trusts will impose a duty of one cent per pound.

The trust will return to us $8,000,000 by this deal alone, all of which will come out of the dear people.

As sugar is a vital article of domestic economy all this legislation is a matter deserving most careful consideration by the American people.

The late forms of democratic tariff legislation does not directly and honestly contravene the protective principle, but does contain a great deal of discrimination which the party denounces as unconstitutional. The party first paralyzed business by the threat of revolutionizing the tariff, and now, after a long period of disastrous uncertainty, comes forward with a measure in one-half of the German export. They have already in bond in New York more than 300,000 tons, to be entered free under present law, then be refined and sold at an increase of price, because, for the future, democratic free trade and sugar trusts will impose a duty of one cent per pound.

The trust will return to us $8,000,000 by this deal alone, all of which will come out of the dear people.

But these un-American people deceive themselves now as much as they have done in any of their past deals against the national interest if they hope by this proposed Tariff act to advance their political power, or even the welfare of their own section.

The people of the North will realize, if they have not already realized, that there exists no loyalty or love of country in the heart of any man, North or South, who aids by his vote the party again controlled the Government, that the shrinkage of property and actual loss to trade and to our workmen, now amounts to more than the entire cost of the Civil war.

Hence their acts to-day constitute a more ignoble conspiracy against the welfare of the nation than in 1861.

They may succeed, with the aid of unfaithful Representatives from the North, who grossly misrepresent the interests of their constituents when they aid in passing an act designed to strike a death blow at the very life of every home industry.

"How Can We?"

A gentleman, accompanied by a lady wearing a handsome dress and bonnet, came out of the Alibi hall one night to find it raining, while they were without umbrella or waterproof clothing!

"Why, Charles," the lady cried, "it's raining."

"So I see," said Charles calmly.

"Well, what shall we do?"

"I rather think we shall have to let it rain," replied the matter-of-fact husband.

Excited by the disaster awaiting the garments, the lady amused the bystanders greatly by saying:

"Why, Charles, how can we, when I have on this light dress and bonnet?"—Tid-Bits.

could not exist. Not satisfied with their obstructive and destructive Free Trade policy and bitter hostile opposition to any Protective system, designed wholly to cripple if not destroy Northern prosperity, Mr. Calhoun and his Southern Democratic followers and their degenerate allies endeavored in another way to retain political power. They successively secured the acquisition of Southern territory, vainly hoping to extend their power by increasing the number of slave states.

Nowithstanding their heroic efforts to hold their political control of the nation, they could not contend against the natural increase of the wealth and population resulting from the Protective policy, which gathered both from every quarter of the globe.

Defeated at all points, nothing remained for these opponents of protection but secession and disunion.

The success of this plan has been notorious. Louisiana, for the first time in fifty years, has become prosperous; all through Kansas and the northwest, and even California, large acreages have been planted in sorghum and beet root, more especially the latter, and we are on the high way to realizing the prophecy of the recent English to the effect that if United States continue their method of free imports and bounties they will, within ten years, produce in our own domain all, or nearly all, the sugar they require."

We take issue with the Times-Democrat in the foregoing statement. The democratic party is a unit in just one thing, namely: spoils. In proof of this, history shows that from the election of Jefferson by the house of representatives, at which time three or four of the best offices in the gift of the president were already held by men sent to insure Jefferson's election, down to the time when Grover Cleveland compromised the whole democratic party in an agreement with the sugar and whisky trusts of the United States, the time of the congress and leading democratic men who had been occupied in bartering between the president and these representatives the principal places in the civil service of the government.

The number of bills passed in the interest of the public service set up may be counted by the number of foreign ministers or consuls or port collectors or postmasters in first-class appointments unopposed. These places have all been used for the purpose of securing the repeal of the election laws or the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, etc.

The democratic party is heterogeneous in everything else, homogeneous in spoils.

The sugar trust is a most scathing example of that "communism of capital" Mr. Cleveland so vigorously denounced some years ago. Why does not induce Attorney General Dole to read his views on this subject?—N. Y. World (Dem.).
